Insurance:

While psychologists' fees are not covered by the Alberta Health Plan, most supplementary health benefit plans have some provision for psychological services. Many employers also have assistance programs which provide some coverage. Sometimes the plan pays Dr. Kneier directly, but most often the client pays first and is then reimbursed by the plan. Payment can be by check, Visa, Master Card, or cash. Of course, Dr. Kneier will facilitate benefit claims by filling out the forms and providing any required documentation.

Dr. Kneier's fees vary depending on the service provided:

1. Individual, marital or family therapy and consultations: $200 per 50-minute session.
2. Joint mediation or counseling for separating or divorced parents: $300 per hour.
